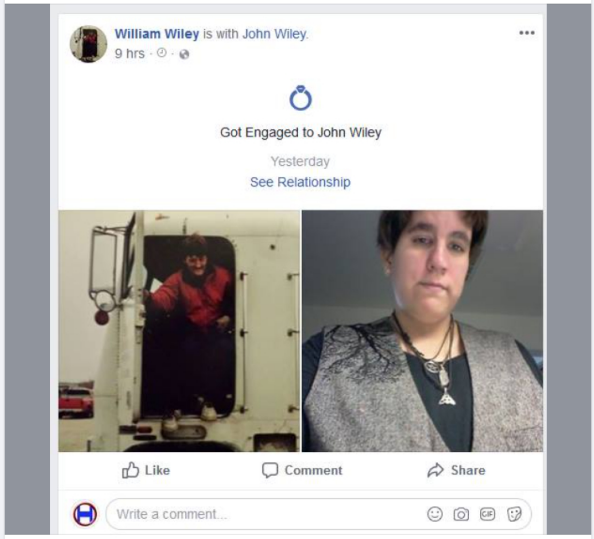
Search Facebook

Dale Husband is feeling pissed off.
June 6, 2018 ·

For the record, this "William Wiley" is actually the old man that my ex-partner was cheating on me with back in January! If only John had just told me he no longer wanted to be with me back then because he thought Billy was preferable as a partner, I could still be friends with John even now. But lying to me and trying to sneak around behind my back repeatedly can NEVER be excused!



1 11 comments

Like Comment Share

Most relevant

Sara Munoz Munoz
Block them both and stop looking them up.
Like Reply 5y 2

Trudy Sena
that is the smart thing to do, for the sake of your own mental health
Like Reply 5y

Dale Husband
So I will! I certainly never want to see John again. Thankfully he never shows up at First Jefferson UU Church anymore.
Like Reply 5y

Trudy Sena
the day will come that when you see him you will ask yourself " what did I ever see in him?" hopefully you wiil get to the point that you can wish him well. it's a long journey
Like Reply 5y

Write a reply...

Ember Herald
Lmao. Wow. That's awful, Dale, and I'm sorry that's happened to you. Not laughing at wat you said, but rather the fact that people are willing to cheat and immediately get "engaged" to the other person damn near as soon as you all split. It's a sad joke. I doubt they will last very long, hun. Keep your head up and keep doing you! You deserve much better!
Like Reply 5y

Dale Husband
It just hurts like hell that my suspicions of him back in January turned out to be true. He said Billy was "just a friend" but he kept ditching me for him. It became clear that John was just using me for easy transportation and sex, and so I just decided I would give him neither. The fact that he also stopped coming to church after I dumped him is also telling. And just when I start to think I should look him up again to see if he is all right.....
Like Reply 5y

Ember Herald
Yeah... Unfortunately that is how most people are these days... You can't trust anyone hardly at all anymore.
Like Reply 5y

Trudy Sena
let it go, Dale.
Like Reply 5y

Write a comment...